

Working outdoors? Nothing's better at protecting you from the sun than Hard Yakka workwear.

As a 100% Australian owned company, Yakka knows a thing or two about Australia's unique work conditions.

Because most Yakka workwear is rated UPF 50+ excellent protection from the sun, nothing's tougher than Hard Yakka at protecting you from harmful UV rays.

All Yakka workwear has been tested by independent, accredited laboratories and rated according to Australian/New Zealand Standard AS/NZS 4399:1996 Sun Protection Clothing and Classification. As you can see from the following tables, when it comes to protecting you from the sun, Yakka workwear has you covered.

We recommend outdoor workers choose Yakka workwear with full arm and leg coverage, and always wear sunscreen and a hat whenever you're outdoors.

UPF (Ultraviolet Protection Factor)

The UPF rating system used to evaluate Yakka workwear is similar to the SPF rating used for sunscreen lotions. For example, a Yakka Permanent Press Shirt rated UPF 25 offers the same very good protection from the sun as an SPF 25 sunscreen - the only difference being you have to keep reapplying sunscreen!

| UPF Range/Rating | UVR Protection Category | Effective UVR Transmission |
|------------------|-------------------------|----------------------------|
| 15, 20 | Good protection | 6.7 to 4.2 |
| 25, 30, 35 | Very good protection | 4.1 to 2.6 |
| 40, 45, 50, 50+ | Excellent protection | <2.5 |

The following important factors should also be considered when selecting your Yakka workwear. The UPF rating is for the fabric only and does not take into account the design of the garment. Yakka recommend garments that cover the maximum area of the body. The UPF protection offered by the garment may be lessened by close contact with the skin, if the fabric is stretched or wet, and due to normal wear and tear over time.
